

Story by Lizzi Chen
Day: Scene 1:

Girl is walking (10 seconds)-wind, leaves, foot steps. She opens the door and peaks in and sighs and rubs eyes. Walks to computer room and begins typing-typing sounds. Show screen:

Girl

'Dear Little Miss Sunshine...I haven't been writing to you, sorry about that. I've been alright, although months ago it was terrible...

Zoom in on computer screen's words:

Girl

'but I don't think you want to know why'

Groans gets water

Girl is at someone's house with many other people. It's dark with lights and drinks and people laughing. Voice is reading what she's typing.

Girl:

There were so many people I admired, so many people i wanted to be with and I was finally with them. It was too much, I wasn't comfortable.

Flashes of laughing, grabbing, glass crashing, car noises and confusion. show her her hands covering her head as these flashes occur.

Girl:

How was I ever capable of doing this? I had pushed the envelope too far!

Screen goes black

Girl:

I blew it., but...

Show moving truck and her saying goodbye and driving to their new home

Girl:

"It was a new era in my life..."

Zoom in on her face and her wide smile dies down.

Girl:
I got too excited, too fast.

Show computer screen

Girl:
"Life never gave me a contact".

Show her face unsure.

Girl:
I never signed up for multiple challenges".

Back to screen

Girl:
I'll never be what I was

Looks down and walks down the hall. fades.
