

Running Away

By Natalia B. and Zach D.

Scene 1

DAY

Man driving in car. Hills, landscape in background.

Narrator

Flashes of color went whizzing by the car. The young man had been driving for a little over 2 hours now. The window was down, the wind blowing across his face. Everything was behind him now.

Young Man

(Sigh) This is it...your on your own now...no one will be there to love you, to care for you, to watch over you. Damn.

Narrator

The young man was as scared as he'd ever been. Being all alone out in the world was frightening to think about. The world is a big place.

NIGHT

Man driving at night. Clear night.

Narrator

Signs whizzed by. City names, billboards for the nearest McDonalds, signs telling you how many miles to so and so. He didn't pay attention though to these distractions.

Young Man

Why am I out here, what was I thinking leaving everything, everyone behind.

Narrator

The thoughts started racing through his head. Images, words, feelings.
